MR. CLARK'S GREAT TELESCOPE .- Mr. Alvan Clark, of Combridge, has recently completed an achromatic telescope, said 10 be the largest in the world. It was constructed in pursuence of a contract which has been ebandoned in consequence of the rebsilion, and It is now to be disposed of to any person or Institution desiring It. How well Mr. Clark hee succeeded in his great undertaking may be seen in the extract below, which is taken from the proceedings of the Boston Society of Natural History, reported by Dr. Kneeland, the Recording Secretary, and relates to this romarkable instrument:

At the regular meeting of the Connoil of the Boston Society of Natural History, Feb. 5, 1862, Chas. W. NEW YORK CATTLE MARKET. WEDNESDAY, April 2, 1863 According to the reports from the several market-places in the city, there have been received this week:

BEEF CATTLE.

This is 178 hoad less than last week, and 808 head less ann the average of last year. The average number ach Wedneeday market last year was 8.6-6 head, while a number to day being 3.304, shows 3.39 head less than 18 average, and 115 head less than this day week. The expected addition to the supply this morning did not arrive, and the small number left over resterday were disposed of presty easily at full rates, except a few were heavy Connection oxen, which are not salesbia to-day at the prices they would have commanded early on Tuesday morning.

Before another market day it is more than probable that the Hudson river will be op-n, so that cattle can be traceported from Albany to New York by water. This will less on the cost upon State stock, which is charged $25 a car, while Wostern stock is only increased $7.50 and the charge upon a our lost, delivered at $4.50. have the charge upon a oir loat, delivered at Afhave,

PAUL R. "HIPMAN."
OLIVER LUCAS, Local Editor and Reporter.

TUESDAY, APIRL 8, 1862. ETLet none of the ladies, loyal or dislnyal, fail to read the exceedingly readable letter of our friend "B." Tho Washington correspondent of the our shoulders, because in his opinion it is not New York Evening Post says:

The Intelligencer this morning contains an eliberate article in opposit in to the M rrill Emancipation bill now before the Sanate, and it is claimed by some of the opposets of the filter that it speaks by authority, and that the President will vero any bill which provides for immediate emancipation. This is an ectire mistake. Mr Lincoln will sign any reasonable emancipation bill which may pass Congress for the abolition of slavery in the District.

This may base the state of the does not deny that the measure is calculated to strengthen the belief which sustains the rebellion and thus to weaken the cause of the government, but he says he is pledged as a Republican to aid in adopting the measure. This may be so; but there is very great room Republican to aid in adopting the measure, for difference of opinion as to what constitutes and, as for the rest, it is our duty to see that a "reasonable emancipation bill." The Post's the measure produces no harm amongst our correspondent no doubt thinks the "Morrill people. He even has the ecolness to appeal to emancipation bili" a "reasonable" one. We us to know if we are "so unreasonable" think no emancipation hill whatever can he as to ask him and his Republican friends "reasonable" at this time. Mr. Lincoln may to forego the adoption of a porty measure differ with hoth. He surely differs with the simply because the effect of the measure will

The "Morrill emancipation bill," which since government! It would be difficult to conceive the writing of the paragraph above-quoted has a display less befitting a patriot and statesman passed the Sanato, provides for the immediate than this. Nothing could well be more heartabolition of slavery in the District of Colum- less and brainless. Nevertheless such is the hia, with compensation, but without reference utmost that can be said in answer to the insuto the will of the people of the District, and perable objection stated by the Senator from without colonization. Mr. Lincoln, as we Virginia. How wouderful that men of the showed the other day, held expressly, even in | mould of Senntor Fessenden report to so misthe level times of peace, that the abolition of erable an answer instead of yielding to the slavery in the District ought not to be at- objection like statesmen and patriots. tempted, except on the conditions of graduality, compensation, and popular election; and, if we may judge from his contemporaneons declarations, he added tacitly the condition of colonization. "I should be exceed- liberation. Though the objection seems to ingly glad," he said in his speech at Free- have passed for nothing with the most enlightport in IS58, "to see slavery abolished in the District of Columbia. I believe that Congress | the Schate, he will not fail to recognize its possesses the constitutional power to abolish it. Yet, as a member of Congress, I should not, with my present views, be in favor of en deavoring to abolish slavery in the District of Columbia, nuless it would be upon these con ditions: First, that the abolition should be gradual; second, that it should be on a affird to act in the teeth of expediency. Of vote of the majority of qualified voters in all conceivable times the present is the one in the District; and third, that a compensation should be made to unwilling owners." These conditions he laid down expressly. "I will say then," ho dcelared less than a month later at Charleston, "that I am not, nor ever have been, in favor of bringing about in any way the social and political equality of the white and black races—that I am not nor ever have been in favor of making voters or jurors of negroes, nor of qualifying them to hold office, nor to intermarry with white people; and I will say, in addition to this, that ties. To illustrate his charge, he copies a thore is a physical difference between the white and black races which I believe will regard to the conduct of some of the women orever forbid the two races living together on of his city, and adds, "longnage like this terms of social and political equality. And inasmuch as they cannot so live, while they do remain together there must be the position of esperior and inferior, and I as much as any o her man am in favor of having the superior position assigned to the white race." Entertaining these wise and manly views, it is fair to presume, it is impossible not to presume. that Mr. Lincoln deems colonization an inseparah e condition of any "reasonable" scheme of emancipation in the District of Colnmbia. Indeed, his views of colonization as expressed in his last annual message leave no room for doubt on this point. And these views he repeats incidentally in his recent s: ecial message. Mr. Lincoln, therefore, leaving out of view Banner will not venture npon any direct dealtogether the present extraordinary state of of the country, regards four separate provis- remarks as implying that the military or civil ions as essential to "any reasonable emanespation bill" concerning the District of Co. Inmbia; namely, first, that the emancipation | Editor or man who will gravely contend that shall be gradual, secondly, that the slaveholders of the District shall be compensated, or any other ægis, should be tolerated in thirdly, that the cmancipated slaves shall be sporting deadly weapons in public and spitting romoved from the District, and, fourthly, that the whole measure shall be submitted to the as all traitor. He is no champion of the fequalified voters of the District. The "Morrill malo sex, he is an advocate for its degradation emancipation bill" rejects all of these provisions hut one and embraces that one only partially. It simply provides for a meagre compensation. Surely Mr. Lincoln, apart from the grave considerations of expediency grow- have no idea that a tenth part of them are ing out of the times, cannot look upon this guilty of the outrages we have condemned; but hill as a "reasonable" one. Mr. Lincoln, however, will be very far from overlooking the grave considerations of expediency to which we refer. They hear with controlling or thought otherwise of the general femalo effect on his duty in the case.

And here we cannot but express our nmaze ment at the handling of this capital point by suble and temperate a man as Senator Fes- deadly npas of treason has blasted what once senden We take the following passage from tio official report of the proceedings of the Secate on Tuesday last, Senntor Fessenden ocenpying the floor:

Now, sir, are gentlemen so unreasoneble as to ask ns, in this particular crisis of onr affairs, and hacsuse of the peculiar existing state of things, that we shall forget all we have berato ore said on this subject; that we shall forego all we have tried to attain; that we shall at once ignore the question of slavery sltogether; that we shall do nothing directly or indirectly which is calculated to effect our own purpose, and that a constitutionel purpose, which we declared long ago. In my indement, it is aking too much of us and the udgmant, it is asking too much of us; and the rocess of reasoning by which gentlemen attempt o meet this quasiim, it strikes me, is hardly a fair one. Let me ask the Senator from Virginia [Mr. Willey], for whom I have very great respect, does it follow, when we act constitutionally in one direction, that therefore we mean lo act nnconstitutionally in another directioe? Does it follow, because we adopt one measure, that we mean to ad pt another, and a different one? The onorable Senator has connected ell the measures hefre Cougress together, and he views them as perts of a whole. In the first place, here is the recommendation of the President; in the next place, here is the hill for the abeli ion of slavery in the District of Columbia; and, in the third place, here are the questions with regard to the confis cation of property; and egain, the rasolutions of the honorable Senetor from Massachusetts [Mr. Sumner] with regard to the Seetes themselves; and the monorable Senetor from Virgina takes it for granted that they are parts of a system. L matell him it is not so; and he acts unwisely in leeding his peopla to suppose, hecause we carry ont, or attempt to carry out, what wa believe to be a constitutionel power and a duty resting upon as with regard to this particular measure, that therefore we mean to exercise e power which may not belong to us under the Constitution. Each measure should be left to ha judged, to stand or npon its own merits, and according to its when they are driven into the Gulf. why, sir, I do not hesitata to sey here mos distinctly for mysalf that I dissent entirely from the conclusions of the honorable Senetor from Massachusetts, as stated in his resolutions. I do not look upon the States of this Ueion as gone and deetroyed. The fundementel idea upon which we sterted in this contest was, that no State could take itself out of the Union; no State could destroy its existence as a State, or chaege its relations to the Ueion. We have not racognized State action. From the begiening we heve considered all action as individual action, as heving nothing whatever to do with the States as such. But, sir, I do not intend to argue thet question now. It is enough to say, in this connection, that upon this particular point the opinions of the hour rable Senetor from Massachusetts are his own, for which ha alone is responsible, incily for mysalf that I dissent entirely from are his own, for which ha alone is responsible, and which hals, uedonhtedly, well shie to defend. What right, than, has the honorable Sanator The Richmo from Virginia to say hat he considers all the propositions that have been made as perts of a sys em, and designed as an attick on the iestitation in the States where it exists, and a breach of the obligations undar which the dominant party held itself with reference to this perticular question?

THE KENTUCKY MUSEUM -The specimens in natural hietory and geology which comprise the Kontucky Mussum, have been formally conveyed to the Board of School Trustees by Professore Grant, Hailmen, and Jenkins, for the use of the city schools. The correspondence on the subject was presented to the Board of School Trustees last evening, and a vote of thanks was tendered the gentlemen who made the valuable donation. Subsequently, and upon the recommendation of the Acting Superintendent of the Schools, Prof. Hailman was eppointed to superintend the work of cataloguing the museum, with the provision that he should devote a portion of his time to the iscalcation of the priciples of Object Teaching in the schools, a very useful and important branch of science which has been too much neglected in our public schools. Men and Brothers of the American Legion Men and Brothers of the American Legion:

It is with pain I learn that your ardor is dampened. Now, Brothers, I am only one man; I cannot be everywhere, and, as I must have some one as a head in your city, I command you to recognize—as Captain of Company B, Obio Regiment K. G. C, the said—to have the privilege of de'egating a enbstitute for Captain, who shall at once report to me at headquarters.

Inasmuel, brothers, as it is necessary to have the privilege of the company B, Obio Regiment K. G. C, the said—to have the privilege of de'egating a enbstitute for Captain, who shall at once report to me at headquarters. Inasmuel, brothers, as it is necessary to have reliable efficers in your State, will you get together and pick out a Captain whom you can end will ohey and love? That Captain will appoint the officers in this company. You will hear several general orders read to-right, and I now state why the change in the form of initiation is nuade. Persone were in our Order who had vio lated their oaths, and we had to change it so a to keep them out. Our position is now eafe, fo to seep them out. Our position is now ears, for through our secret police we can now put our fingers on any brother who perjures himself.

Now, brothers, you will wish to know the state of things. I tog to suy that in New York, Philadelphia, Baltirore, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Va, Washington City, Richmond, Charlesten, Mohile, Louisville, Memphis, Montgomery, Harrishurr, Docatur, And Navious ethics, these, there risburg, Decatur, and various other places, there are large bodies of men. We now have over three thousand men in N Y. Sinte, fifteen hundred in Mississippi, twelve hundred in Pennsylvania, we are getting large accessions everywhere. We could proceed further with the developments, extracting from the work of initiative, &c, but our purpose now is not to exhibit the character of the Knights of the Golden Circle, but to prove that the order was established in Cincinnati. As there can be no donbt of the genuineness of the documents we publish, we bave clearly beyond controversy proven our declaration. We merely add that the original documents are, and for some weeks have been, in our possession. Bickley's escret detective police may or may not have known the fact, and can now direct their energies to discover the "perjured brother."

Resonance of the prisoners and in reply to our summerous inquiries in regard to their quarters, but keep, near the head of this crazy made of this crazy mad

Hers we took up a man just returned from War-reaton Junction, a few miles beyond, who in-formed not of the occupation of that point in the morning by Gen. Summer, as has been already The sf.ernoon was well advanced when we re-turned to Manassas Station and found our party in the highest possible state of enjoyment over the luxuries of life which some members of the party had contributed to the general refreshment. The passenger our was hung eround with trophics of the place, and eword, koives, hayonets, cartonche boxes, and discarded and demaged military articles of various kinds were strewed in all direc-

to that Interesting city, when our progress was barred by the destruction of a "plendid bridge which once crowned rhe Broad Run, but which now lies a mass of ruin in the hed of the stream.

Before leaving the spot we took another survey of the spot and the ruins of the encampmente which surrounded it. One of the meet remarks which sarrounded it. One of the hister charksthle feathers of the place, which I have not mentioned, was the great number of dead horses lying in ell directions. These carcases were abundent, and a man who resided near the place told me a curious fact which is worth noting. Prior to the battle of Bull Run the turkey huzzards were here in great numbers and a horse's hones were ricked. in great numbers, and e horse's bones were picked clean always within three days after his death. But since that battle they have entirely disappeared, and, with the exception of an occasiona nasas plain.

1 have been somewhat of a wenderer in my day and have seen many of the great bettle-fields of the world. I have explored the plain of Estrae-lon, the Armsgeddon field, where more fierce bat ion, the Armsgeddon tield, where more feroe bat-ties have teen fought than on any other plain or place on earth; have looked up from the sounding sea to Marathon, and have seen the moonlight fall with cold severity on its classic mound. I have seen those grend fortifications at Acre, and Rhodee, and Malta, behind which the Knights of St John fought the stoutest, bravest batiles in all the history of war. I have seen the field of Waterloo, have stood on the bridge of Buffelora, have watched the roft ripples of the classic see breaking on the shoree at Gaeta, have—on my hreaking on the shores at Gasta, have—on my word—when I look beck over the world, it seems as if every acre of its old soil has been a battlefield, and every flower or tree on its hills aprluge from the gravas of men that have fallen in con-flict. But nowhere, on American, or on Eastern soil, have I seen field of battle that was so rolemn, so mountful, so unniterably terrible in lie memo-ries and a-sociations, as that view from Manassas, looking toward the stone bridge, end the fatal for-est at Bull Run. The dey was exceedingly fair, the air life giving, and tull of spring promises. It was a day when one felt all the exhibitation of giad life, but the agenc was only profoundly of glad life, but the scene was only profoundly sad. All around was despiration, the terrible das-olution of war, and down there in the grave lay thousands of the dead, sacrificed in the most terrible wrong ever attempted on a great and glorious nation. What meetinger of Hell led them to this field of we! What victim of the ancient battle of Satan with his hosts against the dig these graves on the plains of America, and mar the map of our fair lend with this field of near own cell, that the scene was American, the soil American, the graves American, the soil American, the graves American, and as a same back to Washington I think there was we came beck to Washington, I think there was no one in the party who did not feel as if the few hours we had passed at Manessas were rather a terrible dream, than an actual econe in our own

THE CLOSING OF THE CHURCH OF THE ASCENeion in Philadelphia. Some surprise was oc-casioned yesterday morning by the fact of the Church of Ascension remaining ucopered after the usual time, and the appearance of two sentries at the door. The corpregation, unaware of the closing of the house, hid gathered in front of the church, and were there informed by the sexton that he had been directed not to open the church until further ordered by Dr Pinkney, the rector. Nothing could be obtained from the rentries as to what was their business there. The congregation, after talking the matter over among themselve, and animising as to the cause, soon left the vicinity, and proceeded either homeward or to other churches. The sentries remained at the church

We learn that on Saturday afternoon Dr. Pinkney received a note, eigned by Charles E. Rob-inson, Adjutant to the Provost Marshal, advising inson, Adjutant to the Provost Marshal, advising him to "close the church to morrow," on econit of anticipated disturbances growing out of the recter's omission to use the prayer of thanksgiving for recent victories, as directed by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Whitilegham. Dr. Pitkney answered the note, etating that he was confident no dieturbances would take place; yet, as directed, he would order the church not to be epsend, unless he was otherwise directed by the Provost Mershal. At noon to-day the Church of the Ascension was opened for the enstomery reviews, and announcement was midd for the usual agraces on nncement was made for the usual services on

THE MURDER IN STATE PRISON.—We loarn from the Hartford Times perliculars of the murder of Mr. Webster, the Warden of the State Prison, on Thursday evening. It appears that Toole had been reprimanded on the day previous, for not doing his share of work, and the complaint was repeated, which involved punishment. The Warden approached foola, when the latter drew a choc knife which he had somehow managed to obtain, and reizing Mr. Webster with one arm around the neck, which the other hand he infleted a great gash in his side, the blow taking effect en one side of his ribs, and glancing along some four irches. [Herald's Despatch.] It has been ascortained that the rebel leaders are grievously disappointed and disconcerted by the change of programms in the disposition of the army of the Potomac. They had early information of Geu. McClellan's army, and, supposing that the whole army of the Potomac was to be withdrawn from the vicinity, had airenged a programms for a bold daeh across the Potomac above Washington, and a fray upon the Capital above Washingtor, and a fray upon the Capital through Meryland General Jackson's command was to lead this enterprise, to be an apported by Smith and Johnston's forces. It was expected the rebel sympathizers to Maryland would raise the etandard of revolt there and all the execution of the project by the destruction of railroad bridges and the soby the destruction of rairoad bridges and the lastlation of Washington from reinforcements of Union troops. The rebel leaders reckoned withcut their host, and were taken by sururise at finding General Banks within supporting desance of Gazerel Stields when the attempt was made to execute the first part of their programme.

The repulse of Jackson and the creation of two new departments in Vigginia under command of Banke and McDowell, convince them that no vulnerable point has been left unprojected. The Maryland sympeth zers who were emboldened to insolence at the prospect of this bold feat of the rebol army have become disheartened, and are leaving by ecoros in their attempts to escape South, and others, who were known to have organized for the occaion, are seeking a way southward in small

Mr. White, of Indiana, offered a resolution pro-viding for the appointment of a committee of nin members to icquire and report as early es ments, and hed denied emphatically to sympathizing visitors that the sick were not as well cared for In every preficular as they could be enywhere else. The hepital hall is large, well ventilated, and not crowded. All of the sick were not confisced there; many with colde, &c., preferring their own quartere.

In conclusion we would report that as soon as the straw for hedding shall be more generally distributed, and a f.w hlankets supplied here and there (all of which we understand was done last evening), the condition of the prisoners at Alton will be contirely comferteble, and beyond the reach of reasonable compleint. The quarters are far from being crowded; the provisions are secule and abundant, and the ground for airing and for exacting any extensive; and these facts are su timed by the almost unenimous confession of the prisoners themselves. The wante of each equal are presented every dev in ite morning report, and these are supplied either from the public store, or form funds deposited by relatives and friends, to the credit of the different prisoners.

Six Hillnol ans, under charge of againstion prisoners.

Just before the amendament of Mr. Whited real incomers, or form finds deposited by relatives and friends, to the credit of the different prisoners of war to escape—W. P. Brooks, N. C. Hutton, M. G.
